

Children's Minister, Betsey Bass and her family have been members of St. Peter's since 2004. Betsey served as a volunteer nursery worker at St. Peter's while her children were young and gradually became increasingly involved in church activities centered around children and families, eventually serving as Director of Christian Education at St. Peter's from 2010 - 2013. She left her work at the church in 2014 to assume the role of Middle School Dean of Students at Savannah Country Day School, the school her children have attended since kindergarten; with her children's upcoming graduation from Country Day, Betsey felt called to return to Christian ministry and is thrilled to rejoin the staff at St. Peter's! She looks forward to reestablishing children's events that had to lapse during the Covid era and helping to design new fellowship opportunities to share the love of God with all members of St. Peter's. Betsey is married to Langston Bass, Jr., and is the proud parent of Carey and Langston III.
