

Sally Robinson

Daughter of John and Mary Clapp, I have a unique attachment to St. Peter's. As founding members, many of my conversations with them through the years revolved around the workings of their new mission later to become their new church. I first attended St. Peter's at Bethesda so have watched from a distance as the parish grew and evolved into what we know today.

While they were busy here, I was married to an Episcopal clergyman. We were in parishes in Florida, western North Carolina, New York City eventually moving to New Jersey where we divorced, and I continued to raise our three children. I went to work for Bristol-Myers Squibb.

I left the corporate world to pursue my lifelong dream of becoming a teacher. I returned to college for my certification moving first to Connecticut when Michael and I were married then to Savannah where I taught in the Savannah Chatham County Public School System for ten years until retirement.

I have been a member of St. Peter's since 2007, served on the search committee for the organist/choirmaster for Trinity Church in Princeton, NJ, on the vestry at St. James in Glastonbury, Connecticut and at St. Peter's I served on the Plant Committee for The Market and as an usher. I am a Teacher Mentor for the school system and a volunteer at the University of Georgia's Marine Education Center and Aquarium.
